Statement of Privacy Practices

As part of our commitment to protecting your privacy, this statement is designed to provide you with information regarding how the Coalition for Christian Outreach (CCO), may use — and process — the information you share when you use our website. Information is also collected when you communicate with us or utilize our services which include communications, event registration, and development activities.

For purposes of the General Data Protection Regulation (“GDPR”), the data controller is Sue Schulz, CCO, 5912 Penn Avenue, Pittsburgh, PA 15206.

Personally Identifiable Information

Website visitors that register for events and individuals that sign up to receive communications voluntarily provide us with contact information (such as name and e-mail address). We may use this information for specific, limited purposes. You may always “opt out,” either now or at any time in the future if you do not wish to receive our messages.

IP addresses

The CCO may use your IP address to help diagnose problems with our server, to administer our website, and for statistical metrics used to track website visitor traffic.

Cookies

The CCO uses "cookie" messages to automatically help provide better services. They remind us who you are and store your preferences based on what you've done in past visits to our website. The "cookie" is placed in your computer and is read when you come back to our website. Cookies let us take you to the information and features you're particularly interested in. You can reject cookies or cancel them by instructing your Web browser accordingly.

How We May Use Your Personal Information

We use your personal information to provide you with personalized service; to send e-mail alerts to you; to answer your requests; to process your event registration; etc. You may choose to opt out at any time, which will cease all communications from us. We may also use your information to track visitor of our website. This lets us see which of our features are the most popular so we can better serve our users' needs.

Email Privacy

The CCO does not provide, sell, or rent email addresses to anyone outside the organization.

External Links

Our website includes links to external websites. These links do not fall under the www.ccojubilee.org domain, and the CCO is not responsible for the privacy practices or the content of external websites. Your use of any linked website is solely at your own risk.

Modifications

We may amend this privacy policy from time to time; please review it periodically. We maintain the option to modify this privacy at any time by electronic notice posted on our website. Your continued use of our website after the date that such notices are posted will be deemed to be your agreement to the changed terms.
